

ARCH 565 JOURNAL

3/3/25

Currently, I have a basic structural grid laid out with grasshopper that includes parametric footings and columns. These members provide the primary structural language for the building I am modeling which has increased in size from the typical 13th century residence.

