

COMPUTATIONAL JOURNAL 8 SKIN

This project has shifted from a crane to a fire lookout station. This means that the lower portion of the structure is just a galvanized steel space frame for durability purposes. This also means that it is open air which requires no connection to power as this structure will be completely off grid. The viewing deck at the top will be constructed of wood timbers supported by the steel space frame underneath.